POETRY.

ON BEAUTY.

Oh! that I had an hundred tongues,
To sing of ladye fair!
Or voice, like sound of many gongs,
To speak of beauty rare!

I would not tell of foreheads white,
Or lips of coral hue,
Of pearly teeth, or cheeks so bright,
A sight for kings to view.

But I would sing of bright blue eyes,
Which speak of love full well,
When the fringed lids above them rise,
'I love you!' they fondly tell.

And then I'd chaunt the coal-black eye,
That wages war with all;
That says—'Surrender! you must die
Unless your colors fall.'

Now comes the eye of hazel hue,
(Which says, 'I war or love,')
Between the shades of black and blue—
The eagle and the dove.

Thus to the eye of black or blue,
Or hazel, I give all
The homage proudly claim'd as due
From him who owns their thrall.

From the Records of a Stage Veteran.

The Bannisters.—J. Bannister when he came out was but a boy. Full of his love for the drama, the pupil of the British Roscius, and son to the great extemporaneous humorist of the day, that he should, "for his worthy old father's sake," be sought in gay society was little to be wondered at. There were some roaring boys in those times; Suett, Edwin, Dodd, Lamash and Henderson were all jolly dogs. Charles Bannister was himaelf a bon vivant, and John was on the high road to be a fast liver when he fell in love. Miss Harper came out the same season as Mr Bannister, Jr., who was then one of the handsomest youths in England, a pet with the public, and a favorite with every one in the theatre. The person who rented the Haymarket Saloon, or Fruit-room as it then was, chid the young actor for his love of company, and advised him to marry. "Who the deuce would have me, I wonder?" said he. "Ask Miss Harper," replied the Mrs Butler of that day. That John did not implicitly follow this direction there and then may be believed; yet the more he saw of the fair debutante, the more he saw reason to wish that he was worthy of her. She was a beautiful and uneffectedly modest girl; and long ere any declaartion of love took place John had altered his course of life. Many were the merry-makings he declined attending: one night, in particular, when all else present were bent on seeing the moon put out of countenance by the morning, John rose to depart at twelve; entreaties were in vain; go he must, and go he would; nor did he give to any very satisfactory answers to the query, "Your reason, Jack, your reason." Old Charles, however, explained the cause in a quotation from Macbeth, saying, with a significant glance—

"Harper cries 'tis time, 'tis time."

Miss Harper was related to Mr Rundell, the great jeweller; and about the period of her debut, a Mr Rundell (as it was said by some, the father, but certainly a near relation of the late jeweller) appeared in King Lear, but without any great success. Though Charles was a musician and a singer, his son John knew nothing of the science, and was dreadfully frightened at any vocal attempt. Suett said to Charles, when "Inkle and Yarico" was rehearsing (in which John, as Inkle, had to sing a duet,) "You should have made him a musician." "I made him a man," said Charles, "and Heaven has made him a Harper."

Smith, better known as "Gentleman Smith," married the sister of Lord Sandwich; for some time the union was concealed, but an apt quotation of Charles Bannister, elicited the truth. Smith, who was very reserved, evaded the banter of Foote upon the subject, when Charles exclaimed,

"Art thou not Romeo, and a Montague?"

Smith was proof against curiosity, but not against wit, and acknowledged his marriage. "Well," said Bannister, "I rejoice that you've got a Sandwich from the family, but if you ever get a dinner from them, d—n me." Charles proved himself a prophet as well as a punster.

Astley and Ducrow.—Equestrians are of ancient date; classic lore gives many instances of these "Centaurs." The performances of Ducrow, however, certainly outstrip competition and exceed all I remember. All these persons are exceedingly ignorant. Poor old Astley used to talk of a "Krocker-dile wat stopp'd Halexander's harmy, and, when cut hopen, had a man in harmer in its hintellects." He (Astley) had two or three hard words that he invariably misapplied: "pestiferous" he always substituted for "pusillanimous;" and he was wont to observe that he should be a ruined man, for his horses ate most vociferously. The present race of gymnastic professors have not cultivated an acquaintance with the schoolmaster. Monsieur Gouffee, the man-monkey, (who was born in the Borough,) received a letter from a poor Frenchman begging for relief. Whether in French or English Gouffee was equally incapable of perusing it; the stage-manager, however, explained to him the nature of its contents, on which he advanced to the Parisian and gave him half-a-crown. "Monsieur, vous avez bien de la bonte," exclaimed the receiver. Gouffee, thinking that his supposed countryman was asking for more, said, "It's no use, dang it, for I an't no more silver about me." Of Ducrow it is told that, when teaching a lady of rank and title, and being intent on preserving or acquiring a character for gentility, he at last said, "Why, Marm, if you want him (the horse) to jump, you must hold on behind and insinivate the persuaders into his sides." Of this man's extraordinary courage take one example:—Herr Cline, at rehearsal, declined ascending on the tight rope from the stage to the gallery as a dangerous experiment. Ducrow said, "What, Sir, afraid of hurting yourself, I suppose. I'm not pretty, and have nothing to hurt: give me the pole." And, in his duffel dressing-gown and slippers, he ascended and descended,—an attempt amounting almost to madness, and at which even the practised performers of that theatre shuddered.

Elliston in a private Box.—Elliston, who certainly imitated John Palmer in his manner off the stage, had an affected morality of demeanor which ill accorded with his real life; in his youth this was peculiarly the case. Charles Incledon said, "There was a capital parson spoiled the day Elliston turned player." The style of hypocrisy in which the great comedian indulged resembled that of his stage manner, when A was to be deceived in the presence of B. Thus Elliston always appeared to be cajoling one set for the sake of amusing another, rather than for any thing to be gained by the process. When at school, the boys called him "the young crocodile," for he had tears of contrition ready at the shortest notice. His love-adventures were numerous, and he was not very fortunate or tasteful in the selection of his dulcineas; among others (when he was scarcely eighteen) was a tavern-keeper's dame at Wapping.—One day, whilst in earnest conversation with the lady, an alarm was given, and, as it was necessary to conceal Robert William, he was placed in a hasped chest.—There was Elliston whilst the lady ran to the bar. Five minutes passed, and still the noise continued, nay, increased; he tried to raise the lid, but she had prudently (?) fastened it. He listened, the confusion in the house became more evident: he could hear persons running to and fro; they sought some one;—no. Some calamity had occurred. What? He too soon guessed, for he heard the dripping of water and the cry of "Fire!" All considerations but those of personal safety vanished; he sought with all his might to extricate himself; frightful recollections of beings buried alive flashed across his memory; but to be at once buried and burnt was too much, and his struggles were renewed till he sank back helpless and exhausted. "At last," I quote his own words, "I had nothing for it but patience and prayer." "Prayer," I ejaculated, "under the circumstances that brought you there, should have been preceded by repentance." "Sir," he replied, "I did not pray directly for myself, but that those who were endeavoring to subdue the fire might be induced to care of the furniture."—The fire, which was only trifling, was at length quenched. Elliston's flame underwent the same process, for on the lady releasing him he wended homewards, and never again incurred a similar danger in the same premises.

THE BOSTON MORNING POST.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1834.

New York Election.—The ex-diplomatist, who figures occasionally in the columns of the Daily, with about as much credit to himself and the country, as when he proffered his unbounded devotedness to the person of the royal petticoat embroiderer, has a tirade, in his Thursday's paper, against the Democracy, about the New York election. He accuses them with preparing to bring a force of "foreign desperadoes" "into the field, armed with the club and firebrand," to overawe and overwhelm the aristocracy—under their stolen alias of Whigs—such Whigs as David B. Ogden and Jonathan Goodhue. Heaven save the mark! Jonathan Goodhue a Whig! Why, he sucked in tory principles at his nursing; and his father's widow, who resides in Lancaster, in this State, receives a pension now, semi-annually, from the British Government, on account of the tory principles and services of her family during the revolution. He is a fair specimen of modern Whigs.

These men have as little claim to be called friends of order as they have to be called Whigs. They are both misnomers, and taken, as a felon steals a good name, to conceal the odium and infamy of a bad character.

Let us look back upon the course of these self-styled friends of order, ever since the revolution, and we shall always find them first and foremost in mobs and violence, in slander and libels, and in all that is vile, personally and politically. If a man has been burnt in effigy, you will find that it was a federal mob that did it—if violence has been resorted to, it is federalists who committed and who approved it. If you wish to see every thing vile and infamous and scurrilous in newspapers, you will find it in papers, amply patronized by those pure lovers of order—you have but to turn back to the files of the Scourge, the old Galaxy, and to the Atlas and Experiment, of the present day. Who mobbed Col. Turner, Mr Seaver, and other members of Congress, during the last war? Who shot down Austin in State street, and what partizan bench screened the homicide? Who committed personal violence upon the Chief Magistrate, and who but the whole federal party justified it? Who but this party attempted to drive the democrats, by force, from Faneuil Hall last March? and a sad mistake they made too. Who mobbed Col. Parks at Bangor? Who cut off the Figure Head?—an offence yet unatoned. Who commenced the riots in New York at the spring election? These self-vaunting friends of order. Their every principle leads them to violence and oppression, and when they do not commit it, their timidity, and not their sense of justice, restrains them.—The democracy hear their words, and are not deceived in their character. They know that the recent movement of the Bank aristocrats in New York, is for the purpose of trampling down the rights of the humbler part (in pecuniary matters) of the democrats, at the polls—and they intend to defend their rights against these assaults. If these Jonathan Goodhue Whigs offer no violence and insolence at the polls, there will be no trouble; but if they follow the course pursued last spring—if they choose to break down the barriers of the law, and substitute force in its stead, let the guilt and the punishment fall on their heads. We deprecate violence—we caution our political friends, both in New York and Philadelphia, neither to offer violence, nor give provocation for it—but by no means, nor on any account or consideration to submit to it.

In conclusion, we have to suggest to our merchants and others, who have merchandise in New York, to note the spirit of the article in the Daily, and to judge whether that will inspire them with confidence in the safety of their property there.

Child's Play.—The Bank papers are quite confident of carrying their candidates for Congress in the city of Philadelphia, because the initials of their names can be so arranged as to spell the word "Whig." Puerile as this argument is, the young men of the present day cannot claim it as original, for, according to the following article from the Portland Jeffersonian, it was the legitimate offspring of one of the "retired aristocracy"—a class of men who, according to Hamilton, possessed the same bitterness of feeling, backed by twice the mental ability, boasted of by the young federalists of the rising generation:—

"This reminds us of a great discovery made by the Hon. Harrison Gray Otis and announced to the American people on the floor of the Senate of Massachusetts in the year 1810, if we mistake not. While the federalists of that day were justifying the outrages of the British cruisers upon our flag and the violation of our rights as a nation, by the British Government, they were perpetually harping upon the idle charge that the government of the United States was in secret league with France—that in fact we were sold to Bonaparte.—Mr Duane of the Aurora, in order to exhibit to the people in a plain and familiar form the true character of the course pursued by the federalists, selected and published in his paper several texts and short passages of scripture. The Legislature of Massachusetts was then in session.—No sooner did the number of the Aurora containing these texts and passages make its appearance at the head quarters of good principles, but Mr Otis came hurrying into the Senate, his face flushed, his whole frame agitated, his mind laboring as if oppressed by some subject of thrilling interest, which seemed to have overwhelmed him. He had made a discovery—he had detected the plot—he had at length got full proof that our country and its liberties were sold to the French despot. He hastened to unmask the traitors, to expose their infamous plots to the gaze of the Senate and the world.—Yes, by taking such of Mr Duane's texts and passages as would answer the purpose, and by arranging them in the proper order and taking the first letter of the first word of these texts, and by putting them together, you had the full, the damning proof of the whole iniquity. Yes, these letters, designated in this manner by the texts and passages thus selected and arranged, made out the whole story. This was the conventional mode of acknowledging our subjection to the infamous Bonaparte. NAPOLEANISOURKING. Yes, 'Napolean is our king.' And after this most extraordinary developement Mr Otis sat down exhausted by the conflict and intensity of his own feelings, while the Senate, the House, and the whole federal party were filled with horror and dismay."

The Bank men in Philadelphia have passed a resolution, similar to that adopted at Masonic Temple, (New York,) in favor of closing their stores and workshops on the day of election. They will probably get enough of mobbing, if they carry out their resolution in attempts to drive the democratic party from the polls. It is but fair that "these who draw the sword should perish by the sword."

Maine.—As a correct view of the relative strength of the two parties, as indicated by the result of the recent election, we subjoin the following statement from the Augusta Age:—

"The vote of 1832 was a test vote. There was a strong struggle between the parties. They measured strength against each other. Every political man in Maine knows that comparison here affords a fair test.

"The vote stood,

Smith.	Goodenow.	Scattering.
31987	27151	959

Majority for Smith, the republican candidate, 3227.

How stands the vote this year? Returns now received embracing all but a few small towns, generally in favor of the administration, give

Dunlap.	Sprague.	Scattering.
38047	33506	813

Majority for Dunlap, 3728.

It appears that Dunlap's vote is greater than that given for Smith in 1832, by	6060
And Sprague's vote is greater than Goodenow's, by	5855
Giving an actual INCREASE GAIN to the democratic ticket since that year of which the remaining towns will increase."	205

The respectable Daily backs out of its assertion that the Presidents of all the Insurance offices had contradicted our assertions, that risks in New York had been refused from fears of coming riots and violence; and says, on the authority of its federal broker, that at one office it was the Secretary who made the declaration. We can only say that the modified assertion is equally as untrue as the original; and we can add, for the information of the public, that the Insurance offices here will not insure goods in New York against fires arising from the apprehended riots and tumults, without a large additional premium, if at all.

The Figure Head.—The Washington Globe, in commenting upon the report that the Navy Commissioners had given orders to have the Figure Head upon the bows of the Constitution repaired, says—

"On inquiry, it turns out to be incorrect, that any orders have been given to repair the figure head at Boston. The noble frigate Constitution will leave Boston—mutilated as their Bank frenzy chose to deform her: and if ever repaired in respect to her figure head, it will be done at some naval station where the public property is safe from the aggressions of political zealots."

Young Eaton brought out his new tragedy on Thursday evening, to a good house. It was well received, and his personation of Gaetano loudly applauded. He goes South immediately, where we trust he will reap a goodly harvest of fame and money.

The plot of Gaetano is strikingly like that of Sheridan Knowles's tragedy of The Wife—and the Gaetano of the former is but the remodelled (but not improved) Julien St. Pierre of the latter. The denouement, however, is differently managed. Although Eaton made some good points in his new character, we do not think it, as a whole, well adapted to his powers. We do not know what experience may do for him, but at present, the cool, calculating villain, is not his forte. He is deficient in the right management of that power of sudden change of action and expression so essential in the trying scenes between the bravo and his employer—he wants majesty, if we may so speak, and is too apt to lose the calm dignity of conscious power, in the all absorbing thrst for revenge. We would not recommend to him to imitate any one; but he may gather some useful suggestions by recalling the strong points of Kemble's St. Pierre.

Interesting Correspondence.—The wandering piper recently applied to Mr George Tebbetts Mayor of Troy, for permission to play in the Court House in that city, for a limited period. The Mayor, who is one of the "good society" of modern Illium, returned the following reply:—

"Troy 10 clock 12th Decemr. 1833.

Sir, we have an ordainance in this city prohibiting any Shous and exhibitions including the kind which you propose, without license from the Mayor—My own impressions were opposed to granting your request—and on Conculting with a part of the Common council and others, find my own impressions Confirmed by their advise, Must therefore decline grating the priviledge which you request—and I have No Controll over the Court House."

The "Pipper," nothing daunted, touches Mr Mayor Tebbetts with the following rejonder:—

"Sir:—Yours, dated 10 Clock this day, of which the above is a copy verbatim, has just been delivered to me. Now, Mr George Tebbetts, Mayor of Troy, 'it is my own impresions,' and on consulting 'Barney Skiffington, my common door keeper, find my own impressions confirmed,' that there is no such word in the English language as Ordainance, and that you ought not, on any account whatever, to spell privilege with a d, nor control with two l's. Skiffington asserts that Conculting is an Irish word, in general use among road-makers and such like thaves of the world; and he swears by the jumping jingo's, that C ought always to be sounded before U in all things entirely. Barney thinks that your honor should go to Harvard College, and get the degree which was conferred on Major Jack Downing, viz:—"A. S. S.—amazing smart scholar."

As "education is the bestest thing in the world," the Mayor is advised to set about initiating himself into its mysteries—for, ignorant as he now is, he may be sure he will find pipers enough to pipe his disgrace, without even the ceremony of petitioning for a license.

Patriotism.—When paragraphs were scarce the other day, and most of our cotemporaries were sucking their thumbs, we proposed, merely for the purpose of affording a subject for comment, to club and send up a balloon—our proposition was not accepted, but our object has been accomplished by merely making the suggestion, for we have counted fifteen different paragraphs in various papers, originating from our proposition.

The editor of the Columbus (Ohio) Hemisphere apologizes for a delay of one day in the publication of his paper, by saying that he had been engaged in cowhiding a man who had slandered him. The excuse is a good one, John—you're excused.

Miss Martineau.—The New York Star says that Miss Martineau is in person very attractive, and of manners quite prepossessing, being yet scarcely over 30. She will pass a part of the winter at Washington, where she will have a rich treat for her graphic talent of delineation, and will be herself a lion. She will also visit New Orleans, and thence return by the Mississippi through the western states of New York, so as to be in Boston next summer.

Mrs Sherwood.—The fifth volume of Harper's edition of Mrs Sherwood's works has been published, and is on sale. This is a work which should be in every house, and read by every family. Parents cannot bestow a better legacy upon their offspring than to put in their possession those pure moral lessons, upon the proper appreciation of which depends all that is honorable or valuable in life.

The good and bad people of Gotham were thrown into a fit of amazement the other day at the appearance in their streets of a man a-horseback, clad in a full suit of steel armor. It turned out to be a queer chap who had procured from the Academy of Fine Arts one of the suits recently brought from England and stuck his body into it and rode "round town just for fun."

The Authorities of Guadalaxara have fully recognized the General Government and its President General St. Anna.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

Murder.—A student of La Grange College, Ala. was recently murdered, under the following circumstances:—

A misunderstanding occurred between the student, whose name was Smith, and the son of a tavern keeper in the place, named White. After the misunderstanding, Smith went into a grocery store, and on coming out, saw a man lying on the bench by the door, who proved to be White. White addressed Smith roughly, and drew a pistol and advanced towards him, and shot him through the left lung. Smith expired in a few hours. The murderer has been arrested and will be tried not only for this offence, but also for stabbing a man by the name of Jennings, for which he had been bailed.

Health of New Orleans.—Since the year 1816, says the Bee, of the 14th ult we have not had a more healthy season than the present, and we now reasonably expect to escape the epidemic. During the last five days we have heard some little talk of yellow fever; but, upon strict inquiry, have not been able to fix upon a certain case. The weather, for the last few days, and since the late heavy rain, has been quite cool and agreeable—most favorable with common prudence, to health. Of cholera, we have not heard of a single case, and should we be blessed with a continuance of the like health, we may expect that business will begin at an early season.

Horse flesh good bait.—Two years ago, Col. Joshua Carpenter, now of this city, lost his horse in a bet with a federal gentleman of this place, on our local election. Bucephalus was immediately trotted out and promptly delivered over to the fortunate winner. Directly the story took wind, and it was bruited by the federal newspapers all over the U States, that the Jackson Colonel, Collector at Castine, had lost his horse on a bet with a "National Republican!" And the moral was pointed with this sagacious epigram—"A fool and his money soon parted."

A few weeks since certain of the federal gentry in this city and in Boston, meeting with Col. Carpenter and remembering the story of the horse, beset him to bet on the Maine election. Very well, said the Col.—down with your dust. Whereupon three laid down each a cool thousand; and two five hundred each. Cover that, said the Wig betters. Done, said the Colonel.—So the money was deposited, and Colonel Carpenter's fob is now swollen with four thousand dollars paid in, as the principal and two years interest for the price of his horse.—Bangor Repub.

Robbery of the Philadelphia Museum.—A few days ago, some person or persons entered the Philadelphia Museum and stole from it a large number of medals, among which was a medal of Napoleon, and several made of the iron bolts of the Bastile, together with a quantity of foreign coins.

Accident.—As the steamer De Witt Clinton was coming to at the wharf at Hudson on Monday evening, one of the tiller ropes broke, and she fell upon and stove in the stern of a lumber loaded sloop, when the sloop immediatly went down.

Gamesters.—A German paper mentions the fact that of 600 gamesters at Hamburg, 300 committed suicide, 100 ended their career as swindlers or highway robbers, and the remaining 200 by apoplexy, chagrin or despair.

Mr Wm. H. Aspwall has been recognized by the President of the U. S. as Vice Consul in New York for Tuscany.

Items of Foreign Intelligence.—From the N. Y. Star.

Spain and Marshal Soult.—We perceive the following remark in that rabid tory print called the "Augsburg Gazette"—"The exiled Spaniard has only to visit the picture gallery of Marshal Soult to see what they have to expect from French Proconsuls." For once perhaps there is some truth in this print. Certain it is Marshal Soult possesses, in one sense, the most magnificent collection of paintings in the world, for they are nearly all Murillo's, that Raphael of the Spanish school. The world, we believe, pretty generally know, that rumor attaches to the Marshal the imputation of having rifled these gems from the cathedrals of Spain.—It is true they could not have a more eligible location than that where they now are in his hotel in the Fauxbourg St. Germaine; and no one is more courteous than the great captain himself in acting as cicerone to the Americans and other strangers who flock to his residence. When we visited there some years since, there were also in his rooms marble busts of Charles X., of the Duke of Bordeaux, and of himself. Also, an engraved portrait of the Duke of Wellington, presented by that personage. The two first mentioned busts, we imagine, are now in the attic.

A correspondent of one of the London Journals, says he is afflicted with a carbuncle nose, which the flies are always troubling with their snouts. The editor advises him to fasten a cockspider to his nose with a little bird lime, and he will bet ten to one that any fly with common eyesight will not venture within a yard of his nose.

Miss Martineau made her debut as a poetess in the August number of the London Repository.

A Man who forgot his own Name.—It is a fact well known to many persons in this city, that some years since, a highly respectable and well educated citizen of a Southern city called at our post office and said, "Have you got any letters for me?" "What is your name, sir," said the clerk. The gentleman raised his left finger to his nose, looked grave, and said, "I will tell your directly," and turned on his heel out of the office. A few yards from the post office he met a friend, who said, "How do you do Mr——?" "That's it," said the gentleman; and returned to the office, told his name, and obtained his letters.

[We were intimate with a retailer of dry goods in William street, in this city, who, on one occasion, went into the street to look at his sign, to ascertain his name. This fact we had from the gentleman himself—but, he is no longer a tenant of this, but we trust, of a better world.—Eds. N. Y. Gazette.]

Great gathering—but "small pickings!"—Last Monday being set apart as the much talked of "Cranberry Day," there was a gathering of old men and women,—sprightly lads and lasses, and bare-footed urchins, on the cranberry bogs at Sandy Neck; making up, in the whole, a motley congregation, equipped with pillow cases, canakins, and shining tin-kettles, to take away, lawfully, (as they thought) the "bitter fruit" of the cranberry vine. The number of persons of all sorts, sizes, sexes and colors, who attended the bidding of the Selectmen, was thought to exceed 300. But the quantity of berries gathered was exceedingly small, we were told, and not half enough to repay the time and labor spent in picking———The numerous visitors of the bogs thought they had come on rather a "Tom-fool's errand"———and we suppose the berries they were in pursuit of, have been offered for sale at several stores in Yarmouth, for several weeks past.—Barnstable Patriot.

Refusing a Stump.—A clergyman, a while since, in speaking of the future condition of his hearers, according as their lives should happen to be pure or otherwise, made the usual division of them into sheep and goats. He dwelt upon the condition of each. He especially enlarged upon the miseries of the latter, and upon the presumptuous conduct of those whose sins were likely in the end to place them in that division; and then exclaimed, "Who dare be a goat?"

"I dare," roared a sailor, from the gallery.

"How!" said the preacher, in astonishment—"you dare to —"

"Ay, master," interrupted the sailor, "cause you see I won't take a stump from any body."—N. Y. Trans.

Queer Definition.—A correspondent of one of the London papers in Turkey, says, in speaking of the Kurds, that "they are robbers by profession, and hard fighters." No doubt of it. The Kurds have very little of the milk of human kindness in their composition, when they make no scruple of stopping people on their whey. The greatest rogues amongst them are from the Tartarian frontiers—hence, probably, the origin of cream of tartar.—Brooklyn Adv.

Court Martial.—We learn that a Court Martial will be held on Lieut. Babbitt, of the Navy Yard in Charlestown, on the 13th inst.—on charges preferred by Commodore Elliot, of insubordination and disobedience of orders The Court Martial will be composed of the following officers:—Captains Crane, Downes, Creighton and Kearney—Master Commandants—Sloat and Stevens.—Merc.

NOTICE.—The Journeymen Rope Makers of Boston and vicinity, having seen with surprise an advertisement published by the Proprietors of the Mill Dam Cordage Manufactory, in which they state that the yarn spun in their establishment by machinery, is superior in every respect to the yarn spun by hand; and to counteract the injurious tendency of such an erroneous statement as we believe it to be, and to satisfy the public on the subject, do hereby request the proprietors of said establishment to try the strength and other qualities of the yarn spun by hand and by machinery, so that the public mind may be put to rest on the subject. For as such as you have advertised, undoubtedly you are willing to come forward and make the assertion good by a fair trial before the public. So please appoint your place and time, and we will be ready to meet you in all good feelings and respect.

A. WATKINS, THOMSONIAN BOTANIC PHYSICIAN—Infirmary, Harvard street, (opposite 499 Washington street,) Boston—Has been acquainted with and possessed of a right to use Dr. Samuel Thomson's Patent Vegetable Medicine, for the last 21 years, and administered them in Europe, and South and North America, (including the West India Islands,) and with as much success as any other can, (with truth,) boast of. In the nine months' practice he has had at the Harvard street Infirmary, he has not had the misfortune to lose ONE patient, although many of them had been for years in the hands of the members of the Medical Faculty, and some of them abandoned to their (supposed) hopeless tate. As he is so well known in Boston, it is unnecessary to enter very largely into a detail of success. The following are a few o his patients:—

Stephen Gore, (inquire at Thomas Holland's Beach street, Boston,) totally blind for about 5 months, one eye, nearly destroyed, general debility, legs swollen and lame—appeared completely charged with poisons. General health restored; eye sight good—could see to read (without glasses) in 5 courses, &c. better than he could for seven years previous.

Mr. Parker, now assistant at the Infirmary, rheumatism and dyspepsia, cured in 3 courses.

Francis Kemlo, 153 Court street, Boston, severe indigestion and spasms, cured in four courses, &c.

Thomas Pierson, of Roxbury, and keeps a stall in the new Market, Boston,) erysipelas in the face and one eye; leg very much swollen and ulcerated from the knee to the ancle for the last 25 years—attended by many physicians; nearly cured in 5 weeks

Miss Charlotte Pierson, do. white swelling, with loss of appetite, &c. under medical treatment 5 months, and unable to walk—cured in 3 weeks.

Jesse Brown, baker, of Roxbury, rheumatic and retrocedent gout; stomach, knees, ancles and toes greatly affected; has been confined to bed nine weeks—cured in 4 courses, &c.

Miss A. Brown, his daughter, scrofula or king's evil, cured with 4 courses, &c.

J. D. Smith, of Lexington, dyspepsia, ofseveral years continuance—cured in 3 courses. &c.

Samuel Hawes, of Weymouth, rheumatism in the back, strictures in the urinary passage, general emaciation, &c.—cured in 6 courses, &c.

S. Smith, calico printer, of Lynn, pain in the stomach and back, and strictures across the breast, &c.—cured in 2 courses.

—— Toll, of Shepard street, Lynn, fits and severe cholic, from indigestion—cured in 2 days!

Benj. Morgan, of Salem, cancerous or scorbutic humors, hand ulcerated, debility and loss of flesh; piles severe, and unable to dress or undress himself for a considerable time—cured with 5 courses, &c.

Joseph Kerrier, of Salem, rheumatism in his shoulders and arms—cured in 2 courses, &c.

Sarah Town, of Andover, indigestion, severe pains throughout the system, and piles—cured with 3 courses, &c.

Mrs Lucinda Kerr, Sea street, Boston, salt rheum; top of the head one entire scab—cured in 4 courses, &c.

A. W. cannot be at the expense to enumerate more cases, at present. He has not named cases of fevers, they are almost too ephemeral in the hands of a physician acquainted with his duty—the ignoramus or continued fever, is unknown in the practice of such. Delicacy will not not permit the naming of several diseases, which he has treated with universal success. In almost all the cases of diseases which have been treated by him, he has been under the necessity to expel not only the disease, but the poisons which produced and continued them—and all with INNOCENT and HARMLESS SIMPLES.

This practice induces him to believe he is not too bold in saying, the Thomsonian treatment removes both disease and the poisons af the Medical Faculty from the human system, when resorted to in seasonable time.

For Medicine, Family Rights to use the same, Robinson's ectures, &c. at the usual prices, apply as above, of

ANDREW WATKINS,
Agent for Dr. Sam'l Thomson.

INDIGESTION, JAUNDICE AND BILIOUS COMPLAINTS. ANDERSON'S VEGETABLE ELIXIR, for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Jaundice and Bilious Complaints; weakness of the Stomach and Bowels, and consequent loss of appetite; nervous complaints, headach, sour stomach, flatulence and habitual costiveness.

This medicine is composed entirely of vegetable substances, is perfectly safe in its operation, and may be given to children or persons of the most delicate habit, without the least risk of inconvenience.

The uniform success which has attended the use of it where it has been extensively used, in Boston and various other parts of the United States, and in the West Indies, attested by disinterested and highly respectable persons, affords, next to a trial of the medicine itself, the best commentary upon its virtues, and the best recommendation which can be offered to those who are unacquainted with it.

Extract of a letter received from a gentleman in Boston, who had suffered severely from indigestion for three years. 'During this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pains over almost the whole system—the food that I ate seemed to pass into my lungs and there remain, giving me great pain attended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks, I was induced by the advice of a friend to try your Vegetable Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the least feeling of any thing like indigestion or pressure on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the course of a few hours, completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs, to be a very valuable medicine.

It has been found singularly efficacious in cases of the most obstinate headache.

It is put up in large bottles containing a pound and a half: and sold at seventy-five cents each, by Jonathan P. Hall, Jr., No. 1, Union street, John P. Whitwell, Milk street, John I. Brown, near Boylston Market, Erastus S. Holden, near the Western Avenue, Richard A. Newell, Summer street, Boston; Samuel Kidder & Co. Charlestown, E. G. Lemon, Roxbury.

J. F. FOSTER'S PATENT IMPROVED TRUSSES.—MR. FOSTER invites those who desire an effectual remedy for the dangerous and distressing disease of RUPTURE, to call at his office, No. 383 Washington street, in rooms over the Roxbury Dye House office, (at the sign of the Eagle and Truss) where he is in constant attendance, to adapt his Trusses to the particular case of the patient, as Successor to Mr Beath.

Separate rooms will be provided, so that three or four individuals calling at the same time will not be interrupted.

It is the oldest establishment of the kind in the State—Mr B. having followed the business for more than thirty years—during half of which time Mr Foster has been making them on Mr Beath's plan, and others of approved kinds. Although not followed it steadily and exclusively, he has made them for him felf 15 years past, and for individuals who he is at liberty to refer to. Mr F. having been severely afflicted with the disease himself, since the age of 12 years, considers himself as possessing a thorough knowledge of the business. All Trusses made and sold by him, will be warranted to keep the protruded parts within the cavity of the abdomen.

Among the variety of Trusses made by Mr Foster, are Patent Elastic Spring Trusses, with Spring Pads;—Trusses without steel springs; these give relief in all cases of rupture, and in a large portion produce a perfect cure. They can be worn day and night. Improved Hinge and Pivot Trusses, Umbilical Spring Trusses, and Trusses with Ball and Socket joints.—Trusses for Polapsus Ani, by wearing which, persons troubled in that way, can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety. Mr F. also makes Trusses for Prolapsus Uteri, which have answhred in cases where pessaries have failed. Suspensary Trusses, Knee Caps, and Common Trusses are kept always on hand, charged at the lowest prices. Machines for remedying deformities.

Mr F. will wait on individuals at their houses when preferred—he takes measure of infants at any age, and makes Trusses for both double and single ruptures, which may be worn without pain or inconvenience, and which in many cases will produce a perfect cure, in the space of six or twelve weeks, in such little children; he has had occasion to make a number of late, the Fathers and Mothers of which he will refer to, as well as the Physicians by whom they were recommended to Mr Foster.

Individuals purchasing Trusses of the subscriber, which fail in answering the desired purpose, are respectfully invited to call and exchange them for those that will, and for which there will be no extra charge.

Surgeon's Instruments, and Trusses repaired at the Manufactory.

 Ladies wishing for either Trusses or Backboards, can be attended by Mrs BEATH, at her residence 585 Washington st.

Pierce was in my office in this town when the office was burned on the 2d day of November last—the building was of two stories, wooden, and large. The Safe, weighing 700 lbs. fell from the second story into the cellar, and was exposed to an intense heat for nearly three hours. It was for a long time literally red hot. It contained all the account books, notes, and court-papers, that were in my office; and no paper was in the least degree burnt or rendered illegible. JOHN S. ABBOTT.

The above Chest, and some of the papers which were in it at the time of the fire, are now at the Agents' store, corner of Essex and Washington streets, and any individual or corporation who are about purchasing Iron Safes for the protection of their books and papers, will find it for their advantage to call and examine them,and they will be perfectly satisfied that Gaylor's Double Safes are what they are represented to be—FIRE PROOF; and they will be still further satisfied that none other but the Double Safe would stand a severe fire.

Gaylor's Double Safes are a Patent article, and can only be legally purchased in this city of S. A. & W. G. PIERCE, who are his authorized Agents. tf—jan 31

These Baths are medicated according to the disease—they are now open to the public, and will be administered to families or individuals, under the direction, or according to the prescription of their physician.

Dr. M. will person[illegible] superintend the various Baths, and attend to the prescrip[illegible] the Medical Gentlemen in behalf to their patients.

Without boasting of the cures that have been performed, or pretending to any wonderful knowledge, he would merely say, he would be happy to render the Baths, and the system of Medicine itself, useful to the high Medical Talent of Boston, leaving it to an enlightened public to decide.

Those spacious premises have been fitted up with great expense, at the corner of Lynde and Cambridge streets, and other places have been purchased to be fitted up as auxiliary establishments. POSITIVE, OR NO PAY.—Mrs. Hill's Cough Drops, or Vegetable Health Restorative.—Prepared entirely from Vegetables.

More than forty years have now elapsed since the receipt was given me by my uncle, a celebrated Physician, at a time that I was troubled with a very bad cough and cold. After taking one dose, I found immediate relief, and a few doses cured me entirely; the effects were astonishing quick, and the numerous instances of the wonderful efficacy of these drops on different people, has induced me to put them up in Phials, with directions, under the impression it would be a public benefit. And as that is my sole aim—and to convince the public that is all, and as a sure guarantee against quackery and deception, I authorise my agents to return the money to all those that do not get relief by their returning the bottle and directions. The relief and absolute cure, particularly of these numerous and complicated disorders arising from neglected colds, is amply attested by the acknowledged approbation of those who are now restored to perfect health, as well as many in the decline of life who frankly acknowledge having received great relief from the use of them in the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Hooping Cough, Difficulty of Breathing, Influenza, Quinsea, Phthisic, Croup, and all disorders arising from colds. Price 37½ cents per bottle.

PURE BEAR'S OIL may be had by the groce, dozen or single bottle, of A. BOYDEN, Hancock-st.

As in all cases, so especially in this, Venders, if they wish to secure the patronage of the public, should be extremely cautious not to sell an article for the Hair which tends to counteract rather than assist nature,

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any eulogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An honest prejudice against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of purifying it, and the imposition upon the public of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil, rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified. To prevent fraud, the genuine is enclosed in two wrappers, the inside one being signed Arnold Boyden. aug 15

ESTABLISHMENT OF OFF-HAND PENMANSHIP,

COURSE OF TUITION TO CONSIST OF FORTY LESSONS OF ONE HOUR EACH.

Classes in Session Morning, Noon and Evening.

Rooms Codman's Buildings, corner West and Washington sts.

MESSRS. R. & H. in presenting their claims to the public attention, cannot offer any royal or novel system for their patronage, by which bad writers are made accomplished penmen in the course of a few hours or even minutes—they are aware that "the age of miracles is past, as well as the days of chivalry." They pretend not to effect any more than science and experience can accomplish; but with THESE means they hope to impart as much benefit to their pupils, and effect as great improvements as have ever been attained in their profession.

Their system of instruction is intended to combine the two opposite but important advantages, in the MODE by which writing is performed—the effective, rapid extension and inflection of the fingers, as well as the movement of the whole arm.

They have concentrated the too generally diffused principles in the most plain and perspicuous form, consistent with the practical advantage of the student; they have endeavored to adopt the "happy medium" in avoiding the Scylla and Charybdis of the art. The dull, slow progress of the VIEUX REGIME, and the fatal rapidity of the new chain lightning styles. They flatter themselves they can offer to the public some new and ingenious methods for the illustration and tuition of ORNAMENTAL PENMANSHIP.

ORNAMENTAL PENMANSHIP, of all descriptions, on reasonable terms.

☞ Designs drafted, perpetual Engine and Club rolls, Diplomas, Certificates and Albums executed and Ornamented.—Cards &c. written.

RODGERS' IMPERIAL STOCKS.

6 Joy's Building, up stairs.
[Opposite the Post Office, Boston.]

WILLIAM H. ROGERS, most respectfully invites the attention of Merchant Tailors and the public generally, to his new invented Imperial Stocks for the Neck, which for ease and elegance very far surpass every thing of the kind hitherto manufactured in this vicinity. They are cut scientifically; the materials and manner of making are quite different from those in common use, and they may be covered many times, and retain exactly the same shape as when first made. W. H. R. requests permission to enumerate the usual faults in the common Stocks, viz: 1st, the very inferior materials used; 2d, their sitting away from the chin and exposing the neck, when disagreeably close at the bottom; 3d, the edge at the top being uncomfortably tight, as to cause a distortion of the features by moving the head; 4th, that of their bulging out at the sides, by moving the head a little downwards, which has a most distasteful appearance. By W. H. Rogers' deservedly admired and extensively patronized invention, all these faults are completely obviated. Naval and military gentlemen will find them the most pleasing and durable. Made to order of any texture, by the dozen or single, at the lowest cash prices. Ladies' Riding Stocks beautifully made to order. tf—july 23
